

AP United States Government and Politics Summer Assignment

This school year we will cover how our government is supposed to work, how it really works, and why. In order to prepare for this rigorous class, you need to complete the two following tasks.

1. Get in to the habit of paying attention to the national news. We will work with current events in class all year, formally through assignments and informally in class discussion. By exposing yourself to the news online, in the paper, or on television over the summer, you will have a base of knowledge which you can immediately apply in class in September.

Assignment: write up 7 current events. Use the format at this link:

The file is read only so you don't change my copy. You can save it to your drive or computer and edit it. It can be turned in through email or on paper. Email: joseph.cohen@lausd.net

2. Read the United States Constitution. It should not take too long; the U.S. Constitution is the shortest written national constitution in the world (and the oldest). This document outlines how the United States government should work. In order to review the concepts you learned in US history in 11 grade, complete the following questions. Save this file, fill in the answers, and email or print them and be prepared to hand them in on the first day of school. You will use your responses as a study guide all year.

AP United States Government and Politics Constitution Assignment

You can find the text of the Constitution in many places. I recommend the following site.

<http://ratify.constitutioncenter.org/constitution>

Unless otherwise instructed, you do not need to write in complete sentences, but make sure your meaning is clear.

Write in your own words. Do not quote the Constitution. I know what it says; I want to know if you understand the words of the document. If you do not understand what a word or phrase means, look it up. Some words, like ratify, have specific, legal meanings and should not be substituted.

1. Read the 7 articles of the Constitution. In one sentence for each, summarize the general topic covered in each article. If you use the recommended web site, the phrase that pops up when you scroll over the article's box is not sufficient.
