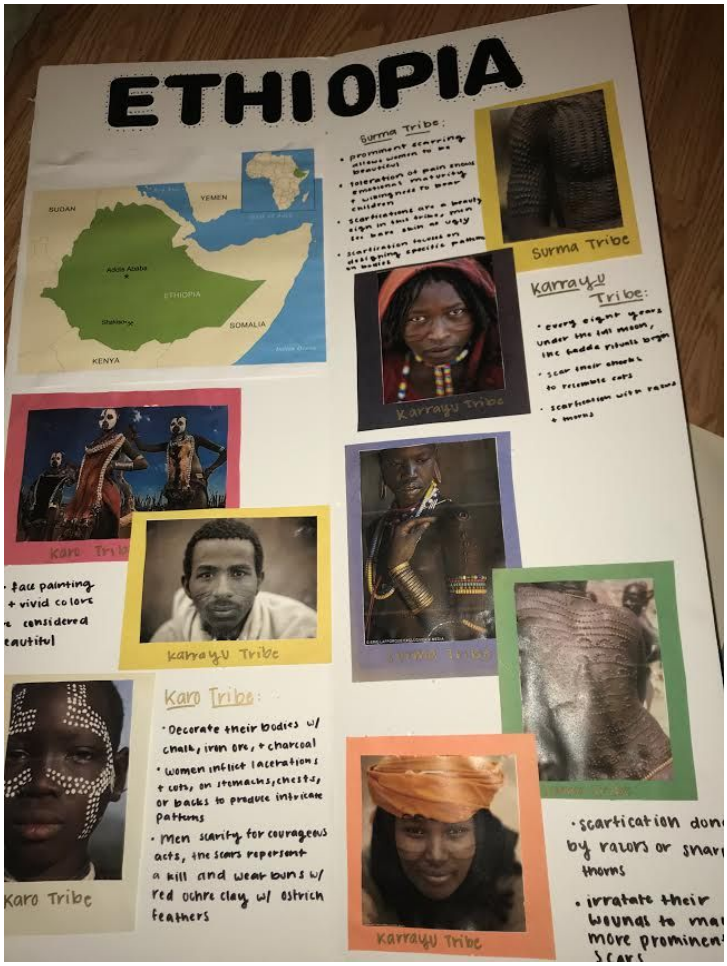
Final Product:



KENYA

Kenyan Tribes:

- extensive use of colored jewelry
- the more jewelry one wears, the higher in rank you are

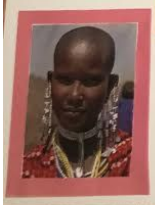
Maasai Tribe:

- use loads of beaded jewelry placed around the neck + arms
- both men + women wear metal rings on their stretched earlobes

Tribes From kenya:

- intricate face paintings and distinct dresswear
- headresses from animal skins + feathers
- tie jewelry everywhere + shaved heads

- careful making of beadwork
- many use of bright colors



- wearing heavy earrings to elongate ears
- the longer the earlobes the more "beautiful"

- traditionally dressed in animal skins which consist of red sheets
- either walk barefoot or with simple sandals

NEW GUINEA

The Huli Tribe

- body art goes with tribes living nature
- use of bold yellow + red are used to instill fear in opponents + assist in transcending their own fears of confrontation

Asaro Mudmen

The Huli Tribe

The Ora Tribe

- known for their women and their facial tatoos

The Ora Tribe

Asaro Mudmen

The Ora Tribe

- designs include geometric representations of nature
- they are considered rights of passage to young women towards womanhood
- the women leaving the tatoo's out are considered women

Asaro mudmen

- warriors who traditionally covered themselves with grey mud and wore giant masks for battle
- the use of mud comes from legends that basically lead them to victory
- use long "claws" and masks to pass as ghosts to scare their enemies

JAPAN

The Ainu Tribe

Tribes from Japan

- beauty standard for women and men
- take much importance in the patterns they wear (tickits)

The Ainu Tribe

- Both let their hair at shoulder length
- sacrificing of bears

The Ainu Tribe

- after a certain age, men let their beards grow and never shave

The Ainu Tribe

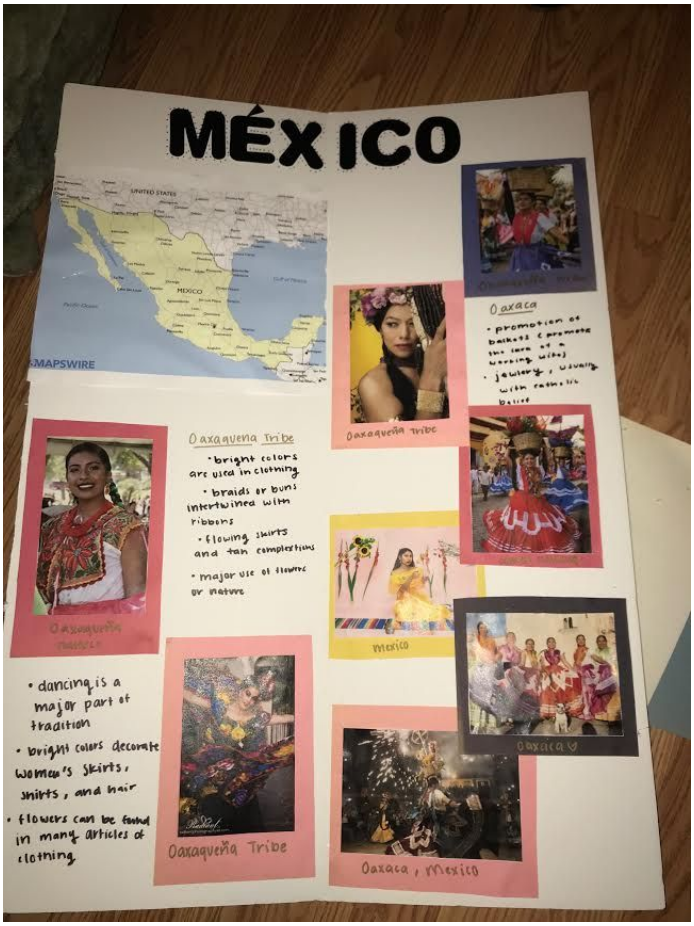
The Ainu Tribe

- both men and women keep their hair at shoulder length
- women tattoo their lips to signify their coming to adulthood

Group of Ainu women

- the presence of this indigenous tribe is not well known
- most of the people in Japan are unaware of this indigenous tribe

The Ainu Tribe



MÉXICO
MAPSWIRE
Oaxaca
• promotion of bailes (promote the love of working with)
• jewelry, weaving with rebozos
Oaxaqueña Tribe
Oaxaqueña Tribe
• bright colors are used in clothing
• braids or buns intertwined with ribbons
• flowing skirts and tan complexions
• major use of flowers or nature
• dancing is a major part of tradition
• bright colors decorate women's skirts, shirts, and hair
• flowers can be found in many articles of clothing
Oaxaqueña Tribe
Mexico
Oaxaca
Oaxaca, Mexico

BRAZIL

The Yanomami Tribe

The Yanomami Tribe
- The tribe believes that everything has a spirit
- Use sticks and facial paint

The Yanomami Tribe

The Yanomami Tribe

The Yanomami Tribe
- for ceremonial purposes : sticks and body + face painting
- since the area is very hot, the tribe doesn't wear a lot of clothes
- the less you wear, the higher in rank with a lot of decoration like headdresses

- native tribe from Brazil
- live together in large groups

The Yanomami Tribe

- Use face paintings and sticks to look more attractive